PHARES QUITS S. T. C BOARD

TO DEVOTE ENTIRE TIME TO BANKING BUSINESS.

DR. MILLER NAMED

Maryville Dentist Appointed by Governor Baker—Has Been Active in Community Affairs.

Jefferson City, Oct. 8.—William F. Phares of Maryville, president of the board of regents of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College there since 1923, has tendered his resignation and it has been accepted by Governor Baker, it was announced at the capitol this morning.

Governor Baker appointed Dr. Jesse Miller of Maryville as Mr. Phares' successor on the board.

Mr. Phares has been a member of the board of regents of the College here for the last three and a half years, being appointed in 1923 by former Governor Hyde. He succeeded W. A. Blagg whose term had expired.

Before his appointment to the board, Mr. Phares was active in the interest of the College here. In 1921, he appeared before the legislature in an effort to secure increased appropriations. During Mr. Phares' presidency, a $120,000 gymnasium has been erected at the College and he was largely responsible for obtaining the necessary funds.

In commenting on his resignation today, Mr. Phares said:

"My time has always been fully occupied, especially since I became vice-president of the Farmers Trust Co. in February. It is because of this increased work that I tendered my resignation to Governor Baker. It has been a pleasure to me to serve on the board with such fine members as now comprise it. My association with the administration officers of the College has always been pleasant. I think I have been on the board long enough and it is time the honor be passed around. I am now and always will be a booster for the College.

"The enrollment at the College this term is far beyond our expectations when the general conditions over Northwest Missouri are taken into consideration. Our enrollment compares favorably with other colleges in the state, and the College here does not show the percentage of decrease along this line as some of the others."

Dr. Jesse Miller, who was appointed to succeed Mr. Phares has been a member of the Maryville school board for the last seventeen years. At the present time, he is vice-president of the board, which position he has held since he has been on the board. He has been active in both school and civic affairs of Maryville.

In 1920 he served as representative from Nodaway County in the Missouri legislature. Last year, he was president of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce and now is president of the Maryville Country Club. He is a former president of the Missouri Dental Society.

When informed of his appointment as a member of the board of regents, Dr. Miller said:

"I appreciate the honor very much. I have always been interested in education and will do the best I can for the College."

Cantley Urges Care in Collection of Loans

Advances Should Be "Worked Out And Not Forced Out," State Finance Commissioner Believes.

Jefferson City, Oct. 8.—That he desires to be regarded as a co-worker and not a dictator in the supervision of financial institutions operating under state laws was the message in a letter sent out today to 1,300 state bankers by S. L. Cantley, state finance commissioner, who succeeded C. E. French in that office September 21.

Mr. Cantley says bankers are not yet without the "gloom occasioned by the war's abnormal influences and the consequent destructive deflation."

He urges care in the collection of farm loans and cited as an example the practice of amortization of such loans by the federal farm loan banks which protect the farmers from immediate and forced liquidation. This should be good in practice, he holds, for commercial bankers. Farm loans should be worked out and not forced out, he said.

800 TEACHERS COMING HERE

LIBRARIANS ALSO TO MEET IN MARYVILLE NEXT WEEK.

ROOMS TO BE NEEDED

Persons Who Can Offer Accommodations For Visitors Are Asked To Notify C. Of C.

Eight hundred or more visiting teachers are expected in Maryville next week to attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association, which convenes Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Simultaneously with the teachers' meeting, the Missouri Library Association will hold its annual state convention, and the two organizations will have several joint sessions.

The holding of the two conventions at the same time has made possible a program which is expected to be the strongest ever offered here and which many authorities predict will be even better than that to be given at the state teachers meeting at Kansas City. The program was arranged by Leslie G. Somerville and Supt. L. E. Ziegler, both of Maryville, president and secretary respectively of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association, assisted by the executive committee, composed of D. D. Hooper, Savanah, Andrew county superintendent of schools; C. T. Richard, superintendent of schools at Pattonsburg; and Edward Adams, superintendent at Tarkio.

An appeal to Maryville residents to open their homes to the visitors was issued today by the reception committee, composed of Bert Cooper, chairman, and Mrs. A. R. Perrin. Persons who can place rooms at the disposal of this committee are asked to notify the Chamber of Commerce.

The arriving teachers will be met at the trains by a committee composed of L. M. Eek, chairman, and D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

H. A. Phillips heads a committee on information and he will be assisted by Dean Edith A. Barnard. T. H. Cook will be enrollment chairman and he will be assisted by Miss Minnie James. Miss Nell Hudson and H. A. Foster will be in charge of assignment of rooms for meeting.

Two Ears of Corn Grow on Big Husk

R. A. Wallace, Hunting for Seed, Finds Freak Corn in Field East of Maryville.

Iowa can have her tall corn, so far as R. F. Wallace is concerned, if only he can continue to raise two bigs ears of corn on each branch of a stalk. It was while picking seed corn on his farm, three miles east of Maryville, yesterday afternoon that Wallace and J. A. Zimmerman, who is a tenant on the farm, found a freak ear (or maybe it is plural) of corn.

There are two perfectly developed and matured ears of corn in one big husk. Some of the husks enveloped only one ear while the outside husks covered both ears.

Mr. Wallace said that he is going to plant the corn and watch the outcome next year.

BENEDICTINE ABBOT HERE

WORLD HEAD OF ORDER PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT.

NOW AT CONCEPTION

The Most Rev. Abbot Fidelis, Who Resides in Rome, Is Primate of 400 Monasteries.

Maryville entertained a distinguished visitor yesterday when the Most Rev. Abbot Fidelis, abbot primate of the world-wide Order of St. Benedict, paid an official visit to the two Catholic schools which are maintained by the order here and to St. Francis hospital.

Abbot Fidelis came here from the Benedictine monastery at Conception, where he has been for about a week. He returned to the monastery late yesterday and will remain there until next week, when he will leave for Peru, Ill.

The head of the Benedictine order resides in Rome and is the intermediary between the various Benedictine monasteries and Pope Pius XI, the supreme head of the Roman Catholic Church. The abbot primate is making an official visit to the Benedictine houses on the two American continents. He first visited those in South America and came to the United States to attend the World Eucharistic Congress held in Chicago last June. Since that time he has been visiting the Benedictine institutions in the United States and he will not complete this work until next February.

The monastery at Conception is the only one of the Benedictine order in Missouri and, with its companion institutions, it constitutes the largest Benedictine establishment west of the Mississippi river. There are twenty-two Benedictine monasteries in the United States. There are 900 Benedictine priests in the United States and 15,000 Benedictine sisters. In the schools and other institutions maintained by the order in this country, 150,000 persons are under instruction.

The abbot primate was much surprised to find such a large and complete hospital in Maryville. The hospital is maintained by the Franciscan Order, but the Rev. Father Anselm, chaplain, is a Benedictine. Abbot Fidelis also visited the Rev. Henry F. Niemann and the Rev. Richard Felix, pastors of St. Patrick's and St. Mary's churches, and the schools maintained by them.

The abbot primate is elected every ten years, when the heads of the 400 Benedictine houses throughout the world come together. Abbot Fidelis was re-elected two years ago for a second term of ten years. This is his first official visit to the United States.

The head of the Benedictine Order is also the official president of St. Anselm's Benedictine University in Rome of which the Rev. Father Patrick Cummins, a former Burlington Junction boy and a member of the Conception Abbey, has been rector for the past five years.

More Witnesses From Burlington Junction

Grand Jury Still on Bank Failure, It Is Indicated—Barber May Testify Again.

A number of witnesses from the Burlington Junction community were used today before the grand jury, indicating that the body is still investigating the Northwestern Bank failure there. At press time this afternoon, there were yet several witnesses to be examined, it is understood.

Robert N. Barber, a former cashier of the Northwestern Bank, is still in the county jail here and probably will not be returned to Jefferson City until late tomorrow afternoon or Sunday morning. It was rumored that Barber might appear again before the grand jury before he is taken back to the penitentiary by Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell.

S. E. Evans, special commissioner in charge of the Northwestern Bank, has been here the last few days with many of the bank records and books. Mr. Evans has been used as a witness by the grand jury.

Twelve new chairs were purchased yesterday by the county court for use in the circuit court room. There was a shortage of chairs in the courtroom Monday at the opening of court for the use of the attorneys and others.

"Ma" Won't Comment on Ouster Resolution

Texas' Woman Governor Believes Comment Not Necessary Since Senate Kills Resolution Asking Resignation.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 8.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson this morning declined to comment on the House's action yesterday in adopting a resolution requesting her immediate resignation from office. The governor appeared as if inclined to the belief that comment was not necessary since the Senate promptly killed the resolution when it reached that body. Friends of the Fergusons are openly saying that the governor had no intentions of resigning.

MUST CONVICT SAYS BUCKNER

ATTORNEY MAKES FINAL ATTACK AGAINST DAUGHERTY.

"CAUGHT WITH CASH"

Will "Bag Man" Save Former Attorney General; Says Max Steuer's Attack Vicious.

New York, Oct. 8.—Hurling his heaviest ammunition against Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, United States Attorney Emory Buckner today in his summation to the jury called for a conviction of Daugherty for conspiracy, as well as for Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, also on trial.

"Of Course, you must convict Miller, who was caught with the bonds. He didn't have a Jesse Smith, a Midland National Bank or a brother Mal Daugherty to cover him up," shouted Buckner, "but are you going to let Daugherty go free because he had Jesse Smith, his 'bag man' to do the job.

"Tht defense counsel says there is nothing against Daugherty. Nothing! Except we have caught him with the cash down to a red cent," the government's attorney continued.

Buckner then went over the testimony, tracing $50,000 of the $391,000 paid to the late John T. King by Richard Merton for putting through the claim of the American Metals Co. The $50,000 in bonds were deposited by Jesse Smith, Daugherty's confidential man. Mal Daugherty has testified the deposits was to make up a political deficit.

"Our indictment does not charge the American Metals claim was fraudulent," continued Buckner, "but it was so bad, so full of holes that even minor subordinates in the government service would have refused to pass it unless, perhaps, they had received orders from their bosses to do so."

Buckner stamped as vicious the attack of Max Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, in his summation of his defense case.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

$100,000 Bond Issue for Gentry Co. Bridges

The County Will Vote on Proposition of Issuing Bonds to Build Bridges.

One hundred thousand dollars in bonds for bridges in 1927. That is what voters of Gentry county will decide in the general election on Tuesday, November 2, according to the Stanberry Headlight Tuesday.

Members of the county court Tuesday called for the election after having been petitioned by more than 300 citizens of the county. One petition from Stanberry, bearing about 50 names, failed to reach Albany until Tuesday night. Only 200 names were needed to make the call for an election legal.

While the petition calls for the maintenance of roads, bridges, etc., the bonds will be used entirely for bridge work in this county.

S. H. Dresbach, presiding judge of the county court, said that there were more bridges out at the present time and more roads out of commission than ever before in the history of the county. There is at the present time no money available for the bridge work and if the bridges and roads are to be fixed, the bonds must be voted.

The valuation of the county is about $25,000,000 and the required amount for the bond issue would be 4 cents on the $100. Judge Dresbach said the matter now rests with the voters for their action in November.

Eighty-five schools reported plans being made to use lanterns of some form.

COAL STRIKE DRAGGING ON

London, Oct. 8.—Fear that the protracted coal strike may become even more acute and may drag out for at least another two months was expressed in governmental circles today as the miners conference reassembled and began drawing up plans for withdrawing the safety men from the mines.

This action follows the sweeping majority polled against the government's peace plan providing for settlement of the coal dispute by districts.

The government is taking steps to secure added coal supplies from the United States and from the continent of Europe. Plans are also under consideration for a still more rigid rationing of households and industries, while endeavors are being made to send in emergency workers to prevent a flooding of the pits in case the safety men are withdrawn.

"The Cardinals had 'em in Tuesday's game, the Yanks had 'em yesterday," Mr. Buhler continued, with reference to the "breaks." "They are two evenly matched teams, and Saturday's game in New York is a toss-up," he added.

Other Maryville fans who have returned after seeing all or part of the St. Louis series are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, H. B. Cushman and Charles Butler. Pickering sent Delmar Carmichael and Russell Burks.

Hindenberg Accepts General's Resignation

Action Of German President Expected To Avert Serious Political Crisis —Considerable Resentment.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—President Von Hindenberg today accepted the resignation of General Von Seeckt, commander of the Reichswehr. The acceptance of Von Seeckt's resignation culminated a political crisis growing out of the irregular service of the eldest son of former Crown Prince Wilhelm contrary to the terms of the Versailles treaty governing Germany's land forces.

The delay in the acceptance of the resignation has caused considerable resentment in Republican, Democratic and Socialist ranks. The president's acceptance of the resignation is expected to avert a more serious political crisis.

Reports from over the county show that in a great many fields over the county the corn that was blown down and is on the ground is growing. In places, the fields look green. Everett Wray, northeast of the city, says he has several acres large enough to cultivate.

Elmer Owens, southeast of Quitman, has a load of well finished hogs that are about ready for the market. Elmer has seventy head of fine fall pigs that are doing fine. He raises the big Chester White and has had splendid luck the last few years with them.

Lee Rasco and son, north of Barnard, had some fine pears in Maryville this week. They were selling them for $1 per bushel.

Butler—An unusually large number of exhibits were received in each department for the Bates County Fair, which was held last week.

The sure way to cook rice is to add it to the boiling water a little at a time, so as not to lower the temperature. Hills Bros. follow this principle of control in roasting coffee. Only a little at a time is roasted, so that every pound gets an equal amount of heat. Superb flavor is the result.

Osteopaths to Bring Team Badly Crippled

The Rams leave Friday morning for the game with the Maryville Teachers with a badly crippled team. The hard practice this week has put a number of the first string men on the cripple list and from present indications a number of substitutes will be taking their places on the team.

August, who started the game at end last Saturday, is nursing a bad leg and may not make the trip. Phil Sweet, another end, will probably be at home on account of injuries. The biggest blow of all came when Messmore, fullback, was reported on the sick list.

With these men out of the game, Meyers is forced to use a patched up team and the final selection of the players who will make the trip will not be made before the end of the practice this evening.—Kirksville Express.

CHANGES ARE BEING MADE

NEW BUSINESS ON NORTH SIDE OF COURT HOUSE SQUARE.

ONE STORE TO CLOSE

Green Brothers Will Open Restaurant Soon In Building Ocupied By Westfall's—Other Changes Announced.

Several changes in business connections and locations are being made this month by firms on the north side of the court house, on East Fourth street. One firm is going out of business and two others, who have been connected for some time, are parting and occupying separate buildings.

Maryville's new business will be a restaurant which is expected to be ready for operation before this month ends. Charles and Ora Green, who formerly maintained a lunch counter in the Garten-Castillo pool hall on East Fourth street have rented the building now occupied by Westfall's dry goods store at 107 East Fourth street and will open a restaurant there soon. The two brothers are now in Kansas City buying equipment for the place and are expected back in Maryville soon in order that work of putting the restaurant in order can start shortly after the building is vacated.

G. H. Westfall, owner of the dry goods store, said today that his stock likely would be practically sold out by next week and would vacate the building some time after Oct. 16. He is going out of the dry goods business but today stated that he had no definite plans for the future.

Richard Milliken has been made a member of the business which has been conducted by Art Garten and Dale Castillo on the north side of the square. While complete plans as to the nature of the business to be conducted at that place have not been made the men are arranging for a lunch counter, and toasted sandwich shop at this time. The interior of the building is being redecorated and the place will be reopened for business under a new arrangement soon.

PAID WELL FOR BEEVES

WINNING CARLOT BROUGHT $12 A HUNDRED-WEIGHT.

FROM THIS COUNTY

Railroads Buy Baby Beef Show Exhibits To Serve On Dining Cars—Auction Was Thursday.

Good prices were paid for the calves sold at auction in St. Joseph yesterday afternoon following the awarding of prizes in the annual Interstate Baby Beef Show held in that city this week. Nodaway county, whose carlot entry won first place and a prize of $75 in that class, received $12 a hundredweight for its baby beeves.

Clifford Standley, of Gentry, Mo., whose angus calf was considered the grand champion of the show was pleased when the animal sold for $50 a hundred-weight and brought him $550. It weighed 1,100 pounds. The beef was bought by the Rock Island railroad company and will be served on the railroad dining cars.

Patrons of the dining cars carried on the Burlington railroad may get to sample some of the beef raised in Nodaway county. That railroad bought the carlot of prize winning baby beeves, and will serve the beef on its dining cars.

Gerald Boedecker, of Parnell, sold his second prize Angus calf to John Morrell, Ottumwa, Ia., for $16.50 a hundred-weight.

Other prices paid for the baby beeves were; second prize shorthorn, $15 a hundredweight by Swift & Company; second prize Hereford, $14 a hundredweight by the Burlington railroad; third prize Angus, $12.75 a hundred-weight, by Swift & Company; third prize Shorthorn, $13 a hundredweight by Burlington railroad; third prize Hereford, $12.50 a hundredweight; second prize carlot, $11.50 a hundred-weight.

The Rock Island railroad bought the champions in the Hereford and Shorthorn classes, paying $27.50 a hundredweight for the Herefords, totaling about $275, and buying the Shorthorn for $26.60 a hundred-weight. The Shorthorn outweighed the Hereford.

The grand champion of the show was bred on the Standley farm near Gentry. He weighs 1,100 pounds and the record, kept by the owner, shows that he was fed barley, corn, oil meal and a little brown sugar.

Corn, oats, oil meal, clover hay and molasses was the diet for the champion Hereford calf raised by Kenneth Armfield, of Union Star, the records show.

Miss Mary Kathryn Williams, whose Shorthorn calf won first prize in that class, fed her animal corn, oats, bran, alfalfa hay and oil meal. It weighed 1,100 pounds.

J. Ross Fleetwood, county farm agent, returned to Maryville today at noon and said that while he was very well pleased with the outcome of the judging he, as well as many of the other exhibitors in the carlot class, thought the prices bid at the auction yesterday should have been higher.

"The individual animals brought a good price but the prices on the various carlots were inconsistant. In many cases the 'throwout' cattle, which had not been considered good enough to enter in the show brought more money than the prize winning animals. That was due to the bidding which was light when the first carlots were put on the market but which became more brisk during the latter part of the day when other cattle buyers started making bids."

Among those from Nodaway County who attended the show were: W. A. Berg, Thelma Green, Ralph Eckles, Russell Eckles, John Noblett, Myron Crater, Leon Brown, Oral Porter, Roy Eldon Moore, Fred Espey, Eugene Espey, Herman Lager, Raymond Crater, Howard Crater, Donald Wray, Max Wray, Loren Garrard, Harley Garrard, Landis Burch, Charley Burch, Maurice Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Manning Moore, J. E. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Espey, M. A. Brown, Fred Lager, Mr. and Mrs. John Noblett, Jake Eckles, R. A. Noblett, Fred Wray, John Garrard, Tilghman Medsker, Charles Wells, T. H. Acklin and Dale Acklin.

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

THE GRASSHOPPER COMPLEX

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for October 10, 1926.
Read Numbers 13.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

It would be interesting to know what proportion of the leading men of today would be willing to risk life and freedom in a desperate struggle for the happiness of the nation.

That there are such men and women no one will doubt. There are many who would not only risk life, but willingly follow their course knowing that death was certain. These are the material of which heroes are made.

Most of us, however, have no such high courage. We have the grasshopper complex. We feel that we are about as strong as a grasshopper and more than that, we feel that everybody who looks at us thinks we are nothing but grasshoppers.

When Moses selected twelve princes, one from each of the twelve tribes of Israel and sent them into the promised land to observe and make report to the balance of the people, the proportion of men willing to risk all was two to ten. Two of the twelve, after seeing the rich land, the enormous bunches of grapes, the beautiful pomergranates, were all for charging right into the new country, killing off the inhabitants and taking it for their own. The others to the number of ten saw the pomegranates, tasted the grapes and looked longingly at the fertile fields, but looming larger and more important in their eyes were the people who owned this new land. These looked like giants, the cities were walled and the ten princes had no courage to go into a fight against such odds. They reported there are giants there and we felt as little and helpless as grasshoppers and "they looked on us as if we were grasshoppers." We would rather be a live dog than a dead lion.

The balance of the story as told by the Hebrew historians is not very creditable to the people. Caleb and Joshua, two of the twelve, urged an immediate attack. They pointed to the grapes and told glowing stories about the land and waved their swords. The people refused to listen to this minority report and accepted the report of the ten. They even threatened to depose Moses, select another Captain and march back to Egypt.

Then Moses told them that they should remain in the desert for forty years until all the men over twenty years old were dead and that of the twelve, only Caleb and Joshua should ever see the promised land. At this, the people groaned and rebelled. They had lived for a year in the desert and did not like it. They said they would rather make a fight and be killed and rushed leaderless to take the land. The result was they were slaughtered by the hundreds and came back to the oasis where they had been camped, a defeated people.

There they lived for thirty-eight years, there they died one by one and there they raised up a new generation of people, men and women who knew how to take care of themselves in the desert, men who were willing to fight anybody or anything. Men of hard muscles and determined minds. Men who did not care how big the giants might be and men who never felt like grasshoppers in the presence of anybody.

Of course the story as told in the Bible stresses faith in God and says that the reason the people did not fight was because their faith was faint. It is in this line of thought the entire account is written. I do not follow the moralists to the moral. The forty years in the wilderness was the most natural and the most certain thing possible. There are some things God does not do. He does not take an unorganized rabble, a people who for generations have been slaves, and make warriors of them over night.

It would have been more than a miracle if these people should have at that time gone into Canaan and defeated the freeman owners and had taken the country. There are times when a whole generation must die off before progress may be made. The youngsters grew up fending for themselves, fighting for themselves, living off the desert. They become brave and hardy. The tabernacle was again erected and their religious teaching was continued. They reached the point where they could understand and accept the promises of God and when that time came they went into Canaan and took for their own the land promised them.

THE REPORTS OF THE SPIES.

Lesson Text.—Num. 13:23 33.

23. And the men came unto the brook of Eshcol, and cut down from thence a branch with one cluster of grapes, and they bore it between two upon a staff; and they brought of the pomegranates, and of the figs.

24. The place was called the brook Eshcol, because of the cluster of grapes which the children of Israel cut down from thence.

25. And they returned from searching of the land after forty days.

26. And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh; and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and shewed them the fruit of the land.

27. And they told him, and said: We came unto the land whither thou sentest us, and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it.

28. Nevertheless the people be strong that dwell in the land and the cities are walled and very great; and moreover we saw the children of Anak there.

29. The Amalekites dwell in the land of the south, and the Hittites, and the Jebusites, and the Amorites, dwell in the mountains; and the Canaanites dwell by the sea, and by the coast of Jordan.

30. And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said: Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it.

31. But the men that went up with him said: We be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we.

32. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying: The land, through which we have gone to search it is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature.

33. And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight.

Golden Text.—We are well able to overcome it.—Num. 13:30.

There are a lot of grasshopper Christians who see giants threatening whenever some Caleb or Joshua spies out the land and reports wonderful things just ahead of us. They are satisfied with what they have, with what their parents had, and refuse to believe that new things can be good. I will do most of these the justice to say I do not believe they are afraid. They would die for their opinions but their opinions need at least forty more years of seasoning and they get that very thing. The religious ground the conservative church is occupying today was the radical ground a generation ago.

I would hate to have a doctor practice in my family who held to the theories of medicine of forty years ago. The man who would attempt to run a newspaper today like newspapers were run forty years ago would not get to first base. He would be called out on strikes.

I have a great respect for Joshua and Caleb. They are fine names and mean much. These two young men were pioneers, men of imagination and men of courage, but the people would have none of them. They were old men when they finally moved into Canaan.

Their fate meets pioneers today. But there pioneers never give way to the grasshopper complex and finally accomplish things, although they may be old men when their glory comes.

God takes us just as far as we will let him. He pushes us along just as fast as our capacity will justify. He understands the grasshopper complex it is in the majority. The marvels of electricity, the wireless, the radio, were all in the air about us in Jesus' time, but God never opened them to our use for two thousand years. The people were not ready for them, would not have known what to do with them. The Edisons and the Marconis would have been crucified as wizards or burned at the stake.

I refuse to become blue and hopeless because we do not advance more rapidly, because God's laws are not observed as well as we would like for them to be, because it takes forty years to banish certain curses on civilization and progress to which the people have been accustomed for centuries.

God has promised us that he will take care of it all. He will not tax us beyond our capacity. We may have to turn back for forty years and live in the desert, but the land of promise is there and is ours and we will possess it.

It takes time to get rid of the grasshopper complex.

HOW WE GOT OUR BIBLE.

The following is the first of a series of articles by the Rev. William N. Dewar, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, on the subject "How We Got Our Bible." The articles are based on the Rev. Mr. Dewar's lectures at the mid-week services at the Presbyterian Church.

"As we enter upon this study there are some facts about the Bible as it exists today which we ought to know. The first of these is naturally the meaning and the origination of the term Bible. It is derived from the Latin or Greek word 'Biblia,' which means books. In fact the Bible is not one book but many books. It is as St. Jermoe called it a "Divine Library," and it consists of sixty-six books in all, constituting the bulk of the literature of an entire race, the Hebrew.

"The term Bible was first applied to the sacred writings by John Chrysostom, called the golden mouth, because of his eloquence, at one time Patriarch of Constantinople. To the term Biblia, as we have it in the Greek, was prefixed the word 'Ta' which means 'the.' It was therefore known as 'The Books.' In the Greek the word is in the plural, but when it was incorporated into the English tongue it became singular and the Bible is known as 'The Book,' as the name implies.

"This designation had great significence in the minds of the early Church Fathers. It meant that the Bible was different from all other books; that its place in literature was unique and preeminent. It was 'The Book' because it stood out in solitary grandeur and beauty, apart from the writings of other peoples. It meant to them as it means to worshipping millions of today that 'it is the world's greatest book.'

"It meant also that there is a certain inherent unity about the various books of the Bible that binds them into a whole. They believed that while there were many authors there was but one directing mind and that mind the mind of God. The proof of this fact is that the Bible as a whole constitutes a progressive revelation from God which culminates in Christ. Christ is therefore the unifying element of the various sacred writings we call the Bible.

"All books point to him and prepare for his coming.

"Of the Bible, at least the Old Testament part of it, he said to the Pharisees, 'Ye search the Scriptures for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and these are they which testify of me.'"

(To Be Continued Next Week).

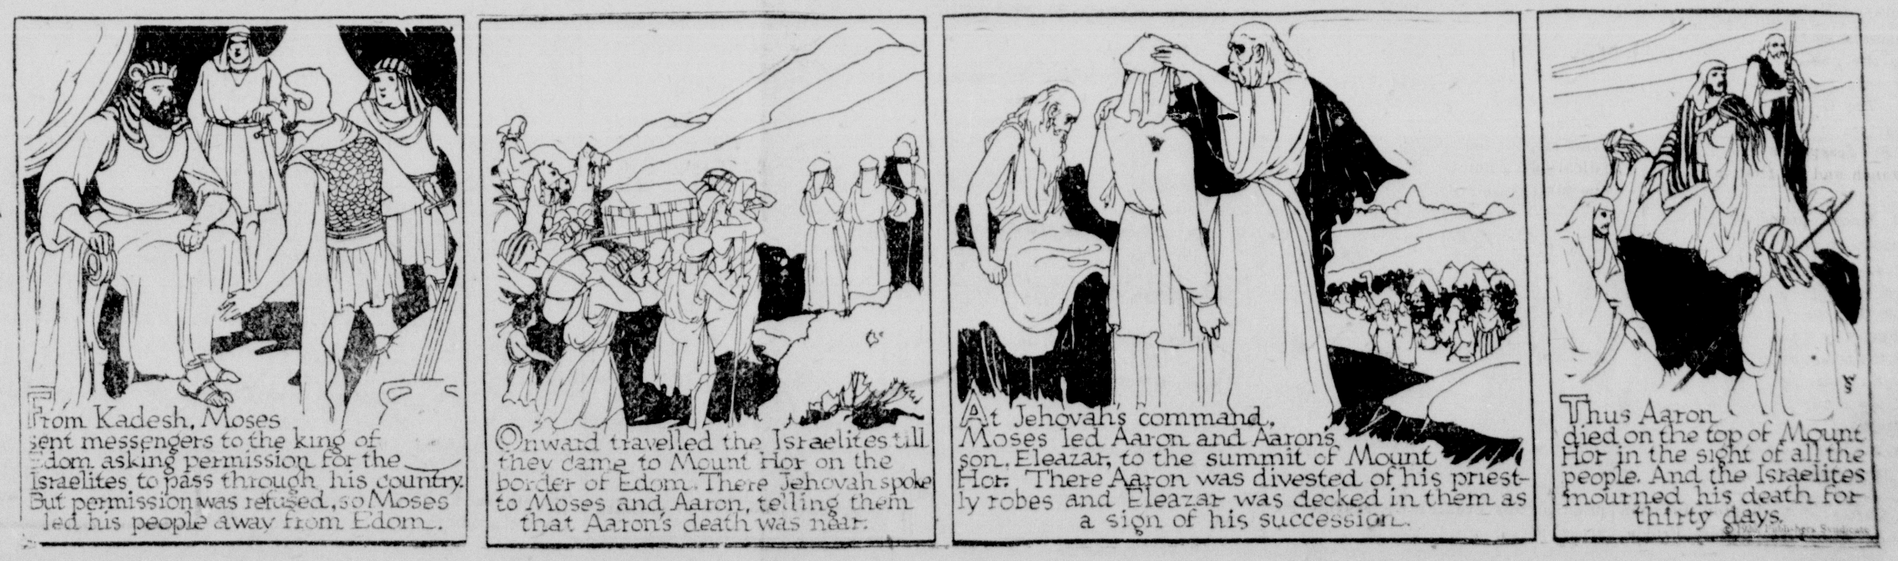
DRAMATIC EVENTS IN BIBLE HISTORY : : By Harlowe R. Hoyt and Walter Scott

The Death of Aaron



From Kadesh, Moses sent messengers to the king of Edom asking permission for the Israelites to pass through his country. But permission was refused, so Moses led his people away from Edom.
Onward travelled the Israelites till they came to Mount Hor on the border of Edom. There Jehovah spoke to Moses and Aaron, telling them that Aaron's death was near.
At Jehovah's command, Moses led Aaron and Aaron's son, Eleazar, to the summit of Mount Hor. There Aaron was divested of his priestly robes and Eleazar was decked in them as a sign of his succession.
Thus Aaron died on the top of Mount Hor in the sight of all the people. And the Israelites mourned his death for thirty days.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping the stairs after the murder, and Mott, questions all the servants and tells them to keep quiet. Katie, a maid, tells of seeing a man leaving the grounds the night of the murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Now, look here, Mr. Detective," said Herrick, who had been sitting still, gloomily listening, "I've got a word to say about that. I locked up everything when I went upstairs at shortly after eleven-thirty. The whole family was up in their rooms then. Now, my room is in the third story front, which it isn't a regular story, this here house being a bungaloo. But it's a loft, like, and comfortable enough. Any way, that's where I sleep, and it's right over the front door. My window was open, and if anybody had gone in or out of that front door, I'd a heard them. That door wasn't opened after I locked it that night, till I opened it the next morning. I know, because the chain bolt is out of order, and I plug a little stick in it. Nobody would do it exactly like I did, and anyways, I just know that door wasn't opened after I locked it up!"

"Very well, Herrick, but maybe Miss Moore let Mr. Heath out by a window."

"I'd a heard it if she had. I tell you, sir, I'm a light sleeper, and I've always got my ears open for burglars, and I tell you there couldn't have been a door or window open in this house that night, 'thout I heard it."

"Did you hear Emma open the door for Katie?"

"'Course I did!" Herrick looked contemptuous. "That Emma, she thinks she's so quiet! She goes downstairs like a hod carrier, and she opens that back door so careful, that she takes about ten minutes to do it! Last night it stuck a little, and she had to jerk it open—ain't that so, Em?"

"Yes," and the girl looked her astonishment.

"Yes, it's so. And I was thinkin' I'd oil it next day, and then what happened put it clear out of my mind."

"How about the studio French windows? Couldn't a man leave the house that way?"

"They all squeak, every one of them," Herrick averred. "I've been meaning to get 'em fixed, but I just haven't. But they squeak somethin' awful! if you don't believe that, Mr. Detective, you just try them."

"Then, Herrick," Mott turned on him, "how did Mr. Heath get out? Emma heard him talking after twelve, that was after you locked up, and yet he was gone in the morning. How did he get out?"

"That's what's botherin' me, sir," and Herrick looked awestruck. "I say, how could he get out? The cellerway was locked inside. Every door and window was fastened in the morning when I came downstairs. I'd 'a' heard any of 'em if they was opened in the night. I don't know sir, how he did get out!"

"Do you think the man Jimmy Lomax saw was Mr. Heath?"

"I don't think so, no, sir. 'Cause why, how could it be? Mr. Heath, he couldn't get out, sir."

"Then is he in the house yet?"

"I think so, sir."

"Then is he in the house yet?

"I think so, sir."

"Why, Herrick, what do you mean?"

"I mean, sir, that the brute as done for Mrs. Heath done for him, too, sir, and hid his dead body somewhere."

"Absurd, my man! That couldn't be."

"All right, sir, but you asked me what I thought."

Having gained all he could from the servants, and giving no heed at all to Herrick's wild surmise, Mott, after further injunctions not to babble, went away.

As he walked round the house, he saw Inman on the front terrace, and stopped to speak to him.

"I say," Mott began, "do you think Perry Heath could have been murdered by the assaassin of his wife, and his body concealed in the house?"

"Good Lord: What an idea!" Larry stared at him.

"Yes, it sounds absurd, I know. But many details of this mysterious case are absurd. I say, do you think it could be possible?"

"I certainly do not. But it is surely a question easily answered. Why not search the house? There are not many hiding places in it that would serve such a purpose."

"Look here, Mr. Inman," Mott Mott stalked along by the other's side, as they patrolled the long terrace, "who killed your cousin?"

"That's the question that's tormenting me to death!" Larry exclaimed, so emphatically, that Mott more than half believed him.

"Is it tormenting you because you don't know the answer or because you do?" he said, shrewdly.

"Just what do you mean by that?" Inman stopped and stared at him.

"I mean, do you suspect somebody whom you do not want to suspect? Are your convictions forced to a conclusion that you cannot bear to accept? In a word, do you feel you must suspect Miss Moore, though you hate to do so?"

The other glared at him.

"No," he said, "I do not suspect Miss Moore, and any one who does must be out of his mind! It's too absurd!"

"Now don't go on to say that that sweet young thing couldn't commit a crime! Crimes have been committed by young women, by girls, even before this day of the wicked and degenerate flapper."

"I suppose, Mr. Mott, your position and your calling give you a right to voice such monstrous beliefs, but I can't believe you really mean them. I think you are putting it to me, to see what I will say to it. Well, sir, I say this. Miss Moore could no more have killed Mrs. Heath than I could myself. And I think your accusation of her is to get me to deny it, and stand up for her, and then you will accuse me, as the only other possibility. Why do you leave Perry Heath out of your reckoning?"

"First, because I cannot believe he could be the criminal and place that card in evidence as a clue to his guilt. Another could do it, but not the criminal, himself. Had Heath committed that crime, he would have left a false clue that would have pointed to yourself or to some other person, but not to his own name."

"This doesn't seem to be one of those cases that have the regulation clues—initialled handkerchiefs, broken cuff-links, special sort of tobacco ash—"

"Footprints, one of a pair of pistols, library table paper cutter, button torn from assailant's coat,—no, Mr. Inman, none of the hackneyed clues are present, except—finger prints. You know of those important ones on the bottle, —the weapon. How do you explain those?"

"I daresay they are easy of explation. Both Miss Moore and myself fingered that bottle when Mrs. Heath was showing it to us."

"Yes, and after that, Mrs. Heath polished it clean with her delicate handkerchief, leaving no marks on it of any sort."

"Oh, I don't know. We must have picked it up again, Miss Moore and I, after that. You know how idly, even unconsciously one picks up objects that are lying about."

"Yes, but there are only the prints of you two people, and Miss Moore's are beneath yours. She grasped it first."

"Indeed," said Larry Inman, and turned away with a yawn.

M. E. Church Notes.

A new Sunday School class was organized last Sunday with the pastor as teacher and we already have the promise of a much larger attendance in the new class than last Sunday. The boys each have the missionary spirit, and they call themselves the Royal Boys, and their slogan is "Watch us grow as a class." They have a great program already planned.

Rev. J. V. Hawk, was on his way to his new appointment at Skidmore, from Laredo, Mo., and was marooned over Sunday here in town and was with us at all three services, on Sunday. He preached a very fine sermon Sunday morning and assisted in the service at night.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PICKERING.

Again we were almost rained out for the Sunday services, when last Lord's Day only thirty-three persons ventured to walk between the raindrops to Sunday School. There was no service at night on account of the rain. Now that the weather seems to be a little better settled, let us make up for all this lost time by having a good attendance at all services from now on. Come to Sunday School and church, and come back again in the evening.

The official board was well represented at the called meeting last Tuesday night. Several important matters were discussed, and another meeting will be held next Tuesday night at the church. Let every member of the board be present. The Missionary budget for the current year was fixed at $368.00. The furnace and cellar steps have been repaired, and a new shingle roof ordered for the parsonage wood shed. Plans for a revival are discussed, and will be taken up again next Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Xa Lincoln, Mrs. Wm. Saunders, Mrs. Henry Kellogg, Mrs. E. L. Crowson, Mrs. O. G. Null, and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Walton and children attended a meeting and social hour at the Hopkins Christian Church Wednesday night, given by the Women's Missionary Society of the Hopkins church. Mrs. Madison Miller of Liberty, Mo., president of the Seventh district of Missouri and the state secretary, Mrs. Anna Scott Carter of Kansas City, were present and gave addresses.

Several from Pickering were present at the mass meeting in Maryville Thursday to organize the county to oppose Proposition No. 4. This is a time when every Christian vote ought to be cast, and all other votes of those who do not wish to see the return of liquor. Remove the power of our sheriff and prosecuting attorney in enforcing liquor legislation, and the country would be in a deplorable state. Wake up, you dry voter, and "think on these things."

AT GRAHAM.

There will be preaching at the Methodist Church at 11 o'clock next Sunday morning by the presiding elder, the Rev. Mr. Robinson.

Free air is mighty fine .... providing you get exactly what you need.

The service station that correctly gauges tires must be supplied with two kinds of tire gauges--one for balloon and one for standard tires.

Your tires will give satisfaction and long wear only when properly inflated. Guess work or gauging with other than the proper gauge won't do.

Marland stations are supplied with proper gauges and Marland Men use great care in giving you the proper amount of air.

Free air is fine but too much or too little is not good for tires.

You know best the condition of your tires. Help the Marland Men by telling them just the amount of air your tires should carry.

Mrs. A. R. Hills of Horatio, Ark., is visiting here this week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Alexander and Mr. Alexander.

Mrs. Hills visited at Guilford and Barnard before coming to Pickering.

The Rev. H. A. Doughty, the pastor assigned the M. E. Church of this place, arrived here with his family last Saturday from Carrollton, Mo. Their household goods arrived the first of the week and they are now occupying the M. E. Parsonage.

Several farmers from this vicinity attended the Moorhead-Ulmer sale near Hopkins on Thursday. The general opinion of those in attendance was that the offerings sold at very reasonable prices.

A force of men and teams under the supervision of W. G. Hewitt, our street commissioner, is engaged in surfacing the streets this week. The ground is too wet to work well in many places as yet.

The road conditions throughout this vicinity have improved greatly with the few days of sunshine we have had this week and, with the exception of a few places, are again fairly passible. There are a few bridges and culverts yet out of commission.

HIGHWAY STILL CLOSED.
(Burlington Junction Post.)

The highway west of Burlington Junction is still closed to automobile traffic. Although a lot of work was done on it Friday and it was made passable for horse drawn vehicles, the rain Saturday and Sunday prevented further work and made the condition worse. Work was resumed Wednesday and if favorable weather continues, it is hoped that within a few days traffic can be routed over the highway again.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—The sharp break in cotton prices overshadowed everything else on the Board of Trade today and forced all grains to a close well below yesterday's final levels.

Wheat had a strong opening on Liverpool cables and the unfavorable Canadian weather, but dropped fully 2 cents on the publication of the government's cotton report. Cash values dropped 1 to 2 cents here and were as much as 3 cents off at St. Louis, Chicago futures closed 1 1-8 lower than yesterday.

Corn followed the course of wheat and showed but little recuperative powers. May delivery dropped to a new low. Spot prices were 1 cent off while futures were 1 3-8 to 1½ lower.

Oats slumped with the major grains. The cash price was ½ lower while the futures were 3-8 to ½ off.

Provisions again hit the toboggan, cotton forcing lard and ribs lower despite the increase in hog prices.

MAY START GAME

BEARCAT BACKFIELD MAY BE CHANGED TOMORROW.

GAME STARTS AT 2:30

College Puts On Sale Thirty-Nine Automobile Parking Spaces For Football Season.

There will likely be one change in the regular line-up for the State Teachers College Bearcats as they enter their football game tomorrow afternoon against the Kirksville Osteopaths. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock, and will be the opening home game of the season for the Bearcats.

If practices this week are any indication, Wilson will start the game at right halfback for the College instead of Search, who opened against Missouri Wesleyan at St. Joseph last week. Search has been suffering from a bad side. He was late in going out for football this year, and football followers say that Coaches Lawrence and Jones are using good football judgment if they start Wilson tomorrow.

Otherwise the line-up probably will be the same. Berst and Ervin will start at ends, Hartman and Lewis will be the tackles, Cox and Mullenax will play guard, and Graham will be at center.

In the backfield, Willoughby will play quarter, Captain Eads and Wilson will be halfbacks, and O'Banion will likely play fullback.

Thirty-nine parking spaces for the season for automobiles were thrown on sale today by the committee on atheletics at the Colltge. These spaces are good for all home games. Tickets good for these spaces may be secured at Kuchs Bros, until time for the game tomorrow, and then the remainder will be sold at the field.

"Tad" Reid, coach at the Warrensburg State Teachers College, will referee the game tomorrow, W. N. Deatherage of Maryville will be head linesman. The umpire has not yet been named.

To Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson and Miss Bertha Anderson will go to Kansas City the first of the week to spend a week with Mrs. L. G. Crossan and family. They will make the trip by motor. Mrs. Crossan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Tigers in Lincoln for Game Tomorrow

Nebraska Line Outweighed About Fifteen Pounds To The Man Is Report.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 8.—A husky bunch of gridsters from Columbia, Mo., arrived at this city this morning for just one purpose——to trim Nebraska.

Judging from the size of the lot they will do it.

Present indications would point to a heavily outweighed Cornhusker team on the Memorial field tomorrow.

The Nebraska line will be outweighed about fifteen pounds to the man while the Missouri backfield will represent the lighter group of ball sluggers.

Candidates Start After More Votes

National Republican Leaders To Assist In Williams' Campaign—Cockrell Aids Hawes.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 8.—Missouri's senatorial candidates will start their final vote getting drives this weekend.

In the Democratic ranks the drive will be more or less of a reconcillation move to get votes. Judge Ewing B. Cockrell of Warrensburg, who was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination, will go on a speaking tour in behalf of Harry Hawes, the Democratic nominee.

Cockrell is expected to make about 30 speeches for Hawes in this last minute vote getting campaign. Senator, George H. Williams, the Republican nominee, next week will also start his final move. Beginning with speeches at DeSota and Farmington, Friday, Williams, will make a tour which included some fifteen cities.

National Republican leaders also will come into the state this week to aid the Williams campaign. Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas will make several speeches as will former Governor David Davis of Idaho.

O. F. Reddick Manager of a New Enterprise

O. F. Reddick, formerly connected with the Farmers Trust Company of this city, now is manager of the Bethany Abstract Land and Loan Co., a newly organized corporation, according to the Bethany papers this week.

The new organization removes from the Bethany Trust Co., its abstract and loan business and makes it a separate corporation, with a capital stock of $40,000. Offices, however, are retained in the building of the trust company.

Mr. Reddick is a brother of Mrs. E. E. Rhodes of this city.

Fifteen Women Are in Congress Running

Perhaps 200 More Aspire To State And Municipal Officers Throughout The Country.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Fifteen women are running for congress this year, according to a list of candidates recently filed with the clerk of the house. They aspire to membership in the lower house; a sixteenth, Cora Bixler, Lancaster, Penn., socialist, who sought senate membership, died after the state primaries.

Women's organizations estimate that perhaps 200 more are candidates for the state and municipal offices throughout the country.

These entries represent the largest phalanx of candidates put forth by women since sufferage was accepted, and the result will probably entrench more women in politics over the country than before.

Terms of two women governors elected two years ago expire this year and one of them, Mrs. Nellie Ross, governor of Wyoming, is a condidate to succeed herself. The other Gov. "Ma" Ferguson of Texas, was defeated in a recent primary.

At present there are three women in the house and none in the senate. The three house members have received renomination and will face opponents at the polls November 2 in their fights for re-election.

Returns from Convention.

F. C. Miller, manager of the J. C. Penney Company of Maryville, returned Thursday from St. Louis where he attended the Central District Convention of the J. C. Penney Company, Sept. 24 to Oct. 5. There were over 110 delegates at this convention and interesting speeches and business plans were discussed by leading men of this business organization.

J. H. Van Buren is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Johnson at Pickering.

By that, we mean that we choose models which not only fit the man who is not of regular build, but actually make him look as if he was. For the stout man, we have a model that was specially designed to produce a much more slender appearance. For the tall, slender man, a model that has a tendency to broaden the shoulders and chest and so on through the list. We have suits for the tall or short—the stout or slim, in both men's and young men's models.

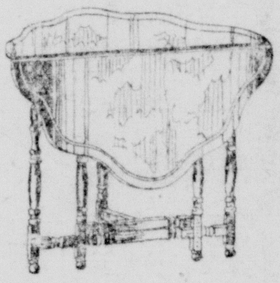
Reminder for FURNITURE Buyers



"There are trick in all trades," and the furniture business does not happen to be an exception to this rule. For instance—

There is furniture which has a highly decorated exterior and a poorly constructed interior. This class is made by manufacturers to fill a demand. It is bought and sold to people who seem satisfied with what the trade calls "a flash."

See the BEARCATS in action TOMORROW

Frankly, we do not handle that kind of merchandise. We admit we cannot serve those who are willing to buy "flash" furniture. Our policy of "every customer must be a SATISFIED customer" does not permit it. We don't want our customers coming back to us with justified complaints. We don't want to lose their good will, their friendship.

We not only believe, but we KNOW that if you try trading here you will not only like the things you buy and the price you pay, but you will like the attention we give to your order.
